Foreword

For the justice system to be efficient and effective, it is imperative that the human resources involved in the judicial administration should also be competent and skilled. Effective judicial education, vocational training, relevant studies and research in the area of justice and law play an important role for the purpose of enhancing the capacity and skills of judicial human resources. For the purpose of enhancing the professional capacity and skills of human resources involved in the judicial sector and to provide training and to conduct studies and researches on various subject matters relating to law and justice, the NJA was established by the NJA Ordinance 2004 which was subsequently replaced by the NJA Act, 2006.

The NJA from its very inception has been involving in carrying out programs such as training, interactions and seminars targeted towards the human resources involved with the justice sector in particular to the judges, government attorneys, court officers and Ministry of Law and Justice, officers and private lawyers. In addition to this, the NJA has been conducting a few capacity enhancement programs targeted for officers designated to hear cases at the quasi-judicial bodies and other concerned stakeholders of the justice sector. Likewise, the NJA has carried out studies and researches on relevant issues concerning the law and justice sector and has subsequently published and distributed its report among the stakeholders. Despite its limited human resources, the NJA during this fiscal year has been able to implement and complete majority of the programs that was determined by the Executive Committee and subsequently endorsed and approved by the Judicial Academy Council. The NJA has been able to successfully expand its relation with various national and international institutions.

Despite its limited human resource, budget and insufficient physical infrastructure, the NJA has been able to complete various programs in the area of law and justice. However, the NJA has to travel miles of journey to fulfil its responsibilities as mandated by the NJA Act. In the context, where the working area and responsibility of the NJA is increasing day by day, the task of addressing the training requirement of the stakeholder unit poses a challenge for the NJA. Activities vis-à-vis research in the area of law and justice, publication of training resource materials, development of faculties and institutional strengthening has not been able to move ahead effectively. Although limited resources and various other problem poses a risk to the institutional development of the NJA, the NJA nevertheless is committed towards making the NJA competent, capable and an intellectual institution by addressing these limitations and shortcomings. To this end, the NJA envisages and expects positive support and cooperation from all the concerned stakeholder units, judicial staff and intellectual society.

Where the grant provided on an annual basis by Nepal government to the NJA is conditional, any unspent amount that remains within the NJA is refunded to Nepal government by end of the year. The internal audit of the expended amount received under the government grant is done by the office of the district funds and Account Controller's office and the final audit is done by the Auditor Generals' Office. The audit of the expenditure on programs conducted on the basis of partnership and which are provided by the donor agencies including other agencies are done by themselves. As seen, NJA's fund could not be established as indicated by the NJA Act. The trend is still to be developed that the amount received from the government of Nepal as grant including the amount received from donor agencies and organizations should be deposited in a single fund and should be expended according to the standard formulated by the NJA.

Achievements and Challenges of the NJA

4.1 Achievements of the NJA

Taking cognizance of the necessity of developing the capacity of the judicial human resources including judges, the NJA was established through the NJA Ordinance on Mar. 17, 2004. The NJA is currently existence under the NJA Act, 2006. The NJA has been successful in expanding and maintaining its institutional image among the judicial human resources at national level and at international level as well and also among various donor agencies, renowned personality and various other bodies. The NJA through the grant received from the government and in partnership with various national/international governmental and non-governmental institutions has been able to enhance the skills and capacity of the human resources of its concerned stakeholders by organizing trainings, workshops, seminars, interaction and talk programs.

The NJA has been carrying out relevant studies, researches on new concepts relating to law and justice and on national policies and laws and has been publishing the same thereby disseminating judicial information and the NJA through such activities has been contributing towards legal reforms. The NJA has provided ToT to the human resources of its concerned stakeholders and has been using these human resources as its extended faculty. Through the training of such human resources, the NJA not only has had the opportunity of using these human resources as resource person, but also the capacity of the said institutions has enhanced to a greater extent. During this year, the NJA through the government grant and in partnership with various donor agencies and institutions has conducted 82 trainings, workshops, seminars and talk programs. The NJA has been able to train judges involved in the judicial administration, government attorneys, court officers and employees, private law practitioners, police and officers of the quasi-judicial bodies. There were 31 programs conducted with the grant received from the Government of Nepal and rest 51 programs were from the support received from partner organizations. This year NJA has been able to cover 1936 the participants in its activities. With regards to research and other materials, the NJA had published 9 reports, studies and resource materials.

Relationship and contact with various donor agencies, national and international organizations and institutions has been extended and there has been an increase in cooperation and partnership with such agencies. Priority has been laid down to establish and develop a long-term relationship with such organizations for a sustainable development of the NJA. For the purpose of securing institutional development of the NJA, study and observation visits to institutions similar to the NJA had been undertaken. Observations to various training centers related with judicial training had been conducted and in order to maintain its relationship with such institutions and for the purpose of garnering support and cooperation, the NJA under its initiation and resource had during this fiscal year had carried out an observation visit of the Federal Republic of Germany. Under the initiation and support of the German Foundation for International Legal Cooperation, an observation visit to the Federal Republic of Germany had been conducted from Baisakh Apr. 16-22, 2012 so as to carry out a study visit of the judicial education of the said institution.

Likewise, the NJA in the previous year had organized an observation visit to the Judicial Training Institute located at South Korea. Likewise, with support from Korean International Cooperation Agency (KOIKA), a program on Development for High Level Officials (Nepal) had been organized from Mar. 26-Apr. 2012. During this fiscal year, a total of Rs. 23,10,363 has been deposited in the account of the NJA.

4.2 Challenges for the NJA

Although, the NJA has made achievements in various areas, challenges remain within the NJA which needs to be addressed. The basic problems and challenges encountered by the NJA are as follows:

4.2.1 Faculty Development

For the activities of the NJA to be effective and impactful, the role of the Faculties working in the NJA is very important. Activities vis-à-vis training programs, researches and expansion of relations with the international organizations and institutions are carried out at the behest of the Faculties of the NJA. Although, the Organization and Management Survey of the NJA has been endorsed by the Judicial Academy Council, the Regulations of the NJA are yet to be amended and refined and as such human resources pursuant to the endorsed survey has not appointed. Honorable judges of CoA and District Courts sent on deputation by the Supreme Court and other high level officers of the judicial service are entrusted with the responsibility of the Faculty. Due to lack of sufficient human resources in the judiciary, the NJA also faces shortage of sufficient human resources. Although, support in carrying out studies, researches and trainings have been provided from the extended Faculty, institutional development of the Faculty has not been achieved. In addition to the studies, researches and trainings, the NJA needs to promote and develop its faculty members and staffs with knowledge and skills needs of the NJA in international language and cooperation with international institutions and organizations from within the NJA and this remains to be one of the challenges for the NJA.

4.2.2 NJA as Umbrella Training Institute

The NJA, established under the National Judicial Academy Act, 2006, is an autonomous and a principal institution that provides trainings and researches on judicial sector, and disseminates and exchanges judicial information for its stakeholders. It has been entrusted for the training of judges, prosecutors, lawyers and other officers and staff of the Nepal Judicial Service. Other organizations do not have the authority or permission to undertake legal and judicial trainings. In this context, the NJA needs to strengthen its institutional capacity and pursuant to the Act, it needs to establish itself as an umbrella institution and this remains another formidable challenge for the NJA.

4.2.3 Development of Human Resources

Effectiveness of the NJA is reflected in the human resources working in the NJA and they play an important role. Although postings for various level of human resources have been prescribed for the NJA, the same has not been fulfilled. Currently there are 7 officer level and one assistant level employee who are permanently posted with the NJA. The remaining staffs are either on deputation or are on contract. High academic qualification has been prescribed for the human resources working with the NJA but owing to lack of attractive incentive and facilities, there is a lack of skilled and competent employees. Therefore, attracting skilled and competent human resources remains a challenge for the NJA.

4.2.4 Lack of Physical Infrastructure

Taking cognizance of international practice including quality of training, the NJA is in need of a modern training hall with modern facilities so as to carry out residential programs. Although, after carrying out proper renovation and repair works of the building located at Harihar Bhawan, programs are being conducted from this building but nevertheless lack of sufficient space and physical infrastructure poses a problem for the NJA. The NJA considered being an institution providing national level training is in need of modern training hall, hostel and sufficient vehicles but unfortunately the same has not been able to be fulfilled.
